HO WHO PRONOUNCE HYOMEI

Sturm & Co. Tell of This Remarkable

Treatment That Cures Catarrh Without Stomach Dosing.

"While all our customers who have used Hyomei agree that it is remarkably successful in curing catarrh and other diseases of the air passages," says Sturm & Co., "yet there has been considerable diversity of opinion as to how the name is pronounced."

"Hyomei is pronounced just as if it were spelled 'high-ome,' with the accent on the first syllable."

"A great many come to our store and instead of Hyomei, tell us they want a package of the treatment for catarrh that we are selling on a guarantee."

"While we know what they mean, and all of our clerks will give them Hyomei, yet we want every one to know how to pronounce the name of Hyomei, so that they may run no chance of getting anything but Hyomei, no matter where they go."

"It is nature's true cure for catarrhal troubles. It kills the germs of this disease, soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane, and effectually drives all catarrhal poisons from the system."

"All the stomach dosing in the world can do no lasting good in the treatment of catarrh unless the nose and throat are free from catarrhal microbes. There is no stomach dosing with Hyomei; just breathe it."

"We have so much confidence in the value of the treatment, that we are willing to return the money if it fails to cure. All Telegram readers know that we do exactly as we agree."

Waterlogged Servants.

An Englishwoman traveling in Serbia thus gives a striking glimpse of her own prejudices and tastes: "The Servians drink too much cold water, and they drink it till they are pulpy. An average Serb drinks enough cold water for an English cow. I doubt whether the language contains an equivalent for 'bad training,' for when I tried to explain the idea it created surprise. A doctor told me he had never heard the theory before. To him it seemed a natural and wholesome habit. Moreover, he added, 'there is plenty,' and seemed to think it was rather wasteful to leave any unsatisfied. To me it explained the lack of activity. The nation is waterlogged all day long and every day the Serb calls for a glass of cold water, when he has drunk it he calls for another. Perhaps owing to this he has little space for alcohol. At any rate I never saw a drunken man, even among the peasants."

When the Sap Rises.

Weak lungs should be careful. Coughs and colds are dangerous then. One Minute Cough Cure cures coughs and colds and gives strength to the lungs. Mrs. O. E. Fenner, of Marion, Ind., says: "I suffered with a cough until I run down in weight from 148 to 92 lbs. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength. Sold by Stone & Mercer."

The Stocking Problem.

Keeping down the stocking basket is the problem which confronts the woman who has to do the darning for a family. If there are small boys with a fondness for playing marbles and climbing fences she will find her darning much lessened if she gives up darning altogether and takes to mending instead. The tops of half worn stockings similar to those in use should be put away for this purpose. From these pieces matching in grain may be placed under incorrigible holes, the edges trimmed away and the goring neatly made by what is known as "cashmere" darning. When properly done it is almost impossible to detect the repaired place.

Whooping Cough.

"In the spring of 1901 my children had whooping cough," says Mrs. D. W. Capps, of Capps, Ala. "I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with the most satisfactory results. I think this is the best remedy I have ever seen for whooping cough." This remedy keeps the cough loose, lessens the severity and frequency of the coughing spells and counteracts and tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by Stone & Mercer.

Raw Eggs for Children.

The more thoroughly an egg has been cooked the more severe is the labor demanded of the stomach. If we would get from this article of food its utmost value it should be eaten either raw or underdone. Hard boiled eggs are suggestive of penicils and dyspepsia. Raw egg is a splendid stimulant when one is exhausted from any cause whatever. It is by no means unpalatable when eaten with salt, pepper and a dash of vinegar. For weakly children raw eggs beaten with milk make a first class food. The mixture may be sweetened with sugar, and it is best to give it in small quantities at short intervals.

Lunch Room Cheats.

"There is not much use trying to have restaurant petty cheats arrested," said the manager of a lunch room in the busy downtown district of New York. "It is too much bother to go to court to appear against them, and we never get the money anyway. As a rule, cheats eat only a small amount, less than 50 cents' worth. The head waiter and the waiter have signals by which they can generally size a man up. They know in a minute whether a customer has really come away from the office without his money or is only bluffing."

"But there is one kind of bait we are all down on, and we'll put him in the cooler overnight every time we catch him. I mean the man who sits at a table, eats 40 or 50 cents' worth of roast or entree and then stops at the bar counter on his way out for a piece of pie and a cup of coffee. When he comes to the cashier's desk he presents nothing but the fifteen cent check for the pie and coffee. The only thing we can do is to make an example of a chap of that kind when we catch him."

Ladies and Children

Who can not stand the shocking strain of laxatives and cathartics pills are especially fond of Little Early Risers. All persons who find it necessary to take a liver medicine should try these easy pills, and compare the agreeably pleasant and strengthening effect with the nauseating and weakening conditions following the use of other remedies. Little Early Risers cure biliousness, constipation, sick headache, jaundice, malaria and liver troubles. Sold by Stone & Mercer.

A Dog Story.

They were talking about the intelligence of dogs, and after each man in the group had cracked up his own Mount Airy man said: "I have a fox terrier named Troubles who not only seems to understand everything that is said to him, but who even takes in conversation of a general character that isn't addressed to him. Our servant girl has been suffering from a bad cold, and the other day, when she went out into the yard to hang up clothes, my wife noticed that the ground was very damp. 'Mary, you ought to have rubbeders on out there,' she called from a window. Now, Troubles happened to overhear this remark, and what do you suppose that dog did? He ran to the hall, picked up a rubber shoe, hustled into the yard and dropped it at the girl's feet. Then he hurried back and repeated the performance with the other shoe. Don't tell me dogs don't understand the English language."—Philadelphia Record.

First Done at Fontenoy.

The Black Watch distinguished itself at Fontenoy by a mode of warfare which at the time surprised both friend and foe, but has since become a recognized maneuver. Unable to get at the French infantry, who were strongly entrenched, and being therefore incapable of using their formidable broadswords with effect, the Forty-second highlanders, after marching to the ground to the music of their own bagpipes to take up a position, fired a volley and then "clapped down at full length on the ground to let the enemy's shots pass over them." The only exception to this prone attitude was the colonel, Sir Robert Monro, who was so fat and unwieldy that, had he lain down, it would have required a lever to lift him again.

A Cure For Piles.

"I had a bad case of piles," says G. F. Carter, of Atlanta, Ga., "and consulted a physician who advised me to try a box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. I purchased a box and was entirely cured. It is splendid for piles, giving relief instantly and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers." DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled for its healing qualities. Eczema and other skin diseases, also sores, cuts, burns and wounds of every kind are quickly cured by it. Sold by Stone & Mercer.

Old English Tracts.

English tracts and sermons of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries are interesting on account of the strange phraseology—a kind of religious slang—which they reveal. Their titles exemplify this slang well, and the following are a few of them: "The Spiritual Mustard Pot, to Make the Soul Sneeze With Devotion." "The Snuffers of Divine Love." "Crumbs of Comfort For Hungry Housewives." "Biscuits Baked in the Oven of Charity. Carefully Consecrated For Children of the Church." "Sparrows of the Spirit and Sweet Swallows of Salvation."

THE NATIONAL STOCK COMPANY.

The National Stock Company delighted a fair sized audience at the opera house last night, the weather being the only reason why the theatre was not full to standing room, as the company is one of rare merit and ability. All of the players are well up in their profession and all of the specialty artists are pleasing entertainers and applause winners. "Little Lord Fauntleroy" was the matinee bill this afternoon and to-night that funny play "Peck's Bad Boy" will be given with a good intermingling of specialties. Mannington Record of April 28.

Ordered His Own Head Off.

The great Count Salgo was an instructive example of the habit of mind of the Japanese. The count was in insurrection against his emperor in 1873 and was nearly in the toils, and he knew it, so in his stronghold he employed his leisure time in playing chess with his immediate friends. Reports kept coming in from the outposts, each one more disheartening than the last. But the count still went on playing chess, while the utmost good humor and pleasant raffery continued among the whole party. Yet another messenger from the outposts came in, which left no doubt as to the situation. Still the count and his companions went on playing. "Your move, sir," were the words that broke the absorption of the moment. Then when there was a pause in the game at which he could rise without being discourteous to his guests the count got up and said, "Gentlemen, now it is time." He directed some one to send for his sword bearer. The man advanced and immediately received his orders. A few seconds later Count Salgo's body and head had been separated at one heavy blow.

Favorite Japanese Card Game.

A favorite game of the Japanese is played as follows: One hundred well known proverbs are selected, each divided into two parts and each part printed on a separate card. The host of the evening has the hundred first halves, which he reads aloud, one by one, the hundred second halves are dealt to the other players, who place their hands face upward on the "tatami," or thick mat of rice straw, on which they sit. As the first half of any proverb is read the holder of the second half throws it out, or if he sees it unnoticed among his neighbor's cards seizes it and gives him one of his own. The player who is first "out" wins. It is a very simple game, but it affords great entertainment to the players, for the quicksighted and keen witted are constantly seizing the cards of their duller and slower neighbors, and this leads to much laughter and many good natured sarcasms.—Westminster Gazette.

Children in Peril.

Some of the most anxious hours of a mother's life are those when the little ones have the croup. Foley's Honey and Tar is a safe and effective remedy that never fails. "My boy would have died from membranous croup if it had not been for Foley's Honey and Tar," writes C. W. Lynch, of Winchester, Ind. Sold by Stone & Mercer, C. D. Sturm & Co. and R. J. Criss.

The Red Petticoat.

Unto all railroad engineers the red petticoat is a sacred thing. Upon scores of occasions red petticoats have been the means of saving trains from being wrecked. Invariably the woman who discovers a washout or a collapsed bridge or an obstruction on the track wears a red petticoat. There may be a psychological explanation of this remarkable fact, but whether there is or not the brave woman always manages during the one minute and twenty-seven seconds that must elapse before the arrival of the lightning express to get her red petticoat off and wave it frantically, thus warning the engineer and enabling him to stop the train on the very brink of destruction.—Chicago Record-Herald.

An Open Letter.

From the Chapin, S. C., News: Early in the spring my wife and I were taken with diarrhoea and so severe were the pains that we called a physician who prescribed for us, but his medicines failed to give any relief. A friend who had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand gave each of us a dose and we at once felt the effects. I procured a bottle and before using the entire contents were entirely cured. It is a wonderful remedy and should be found in every household. H. C. Bailey, editor. This remedy is for sale by Stone & Mercer.

Cats as Food.

A writer in the London Chronicle says: "A few years ago—it may be the same today—the popular markets of the poorer quarters of Rome and even the stalls of the butchers near the Pantheon showed rows and rows of cats hung up for sale, with the skins off, but the tails carefully left on to show that they were not rabbits, for an old fashioned Italian does not think a rabbit quite fit for human food, nor will any Italian peasant eat the meat of sheep. Anything winged, however, is his favorite food. Like the lady in Boccaccio's story, he eats a parrot when he can get one."

A Physician Healed.

Dr. George Ewing, a practicing physician of Smith's Grove, Ky., for over thirty years, writes his personal experience with Foley's Kidney Cure. "For years I had been greatly bothered with kidney and bladder trouble and enlarged prostate gland. I used every thing known to the profession without relief, until I commenced to use Foley's Kidney Cure. After taking three bottles I was entirely relieved and cured. I prescribe it now daily in my practice and heartily recommend its use to all physicians for such troubles. I have prescribed it in hundreds of cases with perfect success." Sold by C. D. Sturm & Co., Stone & Mercer and R. J. Criss.

If You Have Dyspepsia, Read This.

The old way of taking peepsin, bismuth, etc., to cure dyspepsia is all wrong. They may be put up in tablets or in liquid, the result is just the same. The object is to create artificial digestion, but this does not make a cure. Stop taking the peepsin, etc., and you have your dyspepsia or indigestion back again and sick headache, it does not cure, stop taking the drugs and the pain and distress return. The only common sense method is to drive out of the system the cause of dyspepsia and sick headache, by cleansing the stomach and bowels, at the same time using a medicine that will act on the liver. This forces through the glands of the stomach the digestive fluid that nature intended. In this way you cure dyspepsia. The medicine that cures dyspepsia by this method is called Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills. Druggists sell these pills at 25c per box. It only takes one pill for a dose. Sold by Stone & Mercer.
